

RELEASES LOSE HOLD IN STATE OF CALIFORNIA

By J. F. McLAUGHLIN
Special Press Staff Correspondent
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 1.—Five of the most dreaded of communicable diseases known to mankind are losing their hold on the lives of California's population slowly but surely, according to Walter M. Fisher, director of the department of public health.

The 1929 season of diphtheria reported during the first eight months of 1929, compared with 3320 cases for the same period last year, shows a reduction of 43 per cent. Improvement of conditions also more is marked in the comparison of deaths between the two periods. In the seven months period in 1929 there were 193 such fatalities, against 308 in 1928.

Typhoid fever also is on the decline, the report reveals. The 416 cases reported thus far this year represent the lowest incidence for a similar period in over 30 years. The striking improvement in sanitary conditions throughout the state was named as reason for the falling off of the number of typhoid cases.

In the matter of malaria, a decided decrease has been reported, due largely to "imported" cases, or persons moving to California already suffering from the illness. An epidemic of malarial fever, which dated with June of this year, was responsible for the majority of the 607 cases reported in California in 1928.

Smallpox, almost perennial in its attacks on the state's population, struck 1297 persons, less than last year.

The improved status of California's health is due to co-operation afforded the state health administration.

Thousands men seem to feel that it must pay at least $10 a pair for their shoes. Want a certain standard of quality that heretofore $10 or more would buy. Now, thanks to the fact that only enormous production and unlimited retail command—men can get the $10 plus quality in Brown's $7.50 shoes. They are really wonderful shoes, with character, style and that appeal to the eye that men so much desire.

Hoover's Speech on Eighteenth Amendment and other material for High School Oratorical Contestants and others.

We are beginning today to print the material that may be helpful to the high school students in preparing their orations for the Oratorical Contests in the various high schools of the county which culminate in the finals in Santa Ana on February 28.

Each high school has been furnished some material for the use of its students. There are some books and pamphlets in the office of the Register which can be used by the students at any time they desire to come in, and an hour will be set apart for help in the way to counsel by representatives of the Register for any high school students who desire additional information.

Today we are carrying the Eighteenth Amendment, the salient sections of the Volstead Act, and "The Dominant Issue," as given by President Hoover in his second noted address as president, which was made before the American Press association.

The next installment in this department of the paper will be on Monday night. It might be well noted that the students but for all people who desire to keep information on this matter to preserve these papers or the clippings.

THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof, for beverage purposes, is hereby prohibited.

2. The Congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several states, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of submission hereof to the states by the congress.

EXTRACTS FROM VOLSTEAD ACT

Section 1. When used in Title II and Title III of this Act (1) The word "liquor" or the phrase "intoxicating liquor" shall be construed to include alcohol, brandy, whiskey, rum, gin, beer, ale, porter, and wine, and in addition thereto any spirituous, vinous, malt or fermented liquor, liquors, and compounds, whether medicated, proprietary, patented or not, and by whatever name called, containing one-half of 1 per centum or more of alcohol by volume which are fit for use for beverage purposes: Provided, that the foregoing definition shall not extend to denatured alcohol, or to any beverage or liquid produced by the process by which beer, ale, porter or wine is produced, if it contains less than one-half of 1 per centum of alcohol by volume, and is made as prescribed in section 37 of this title, and is otherwise denominated than as beer, ale, or porter, and is contained and sold in or from such sealed and labeled bottles, casks, or containers as the commissioner may by regulation prescribe.

Sec. 2. No person shall on or after the date when the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States goes into effect, manufacture, sell, barter, transport, import, export, deliver, furnish or possess any intoxicating liquor except as authorized in this Act, and all the provisions of this Act shall be liberally construed to the end that the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage may be prevented.

Liquor for nonbeverage purposes and wine for sacramental purposes may be manufactured, purchased, sold, bartered, transported, imported, exported, delivered, furnished, and possessed, but only as herein provided, and the commissioner may, upon application, issue permits therefor.

Sec. 18.—It shall be unlawful to advertise, manufacture, sell, or possess for sale any utensil, contrivance, machine, preparation, compound, tablet, substance, formula, direction, or recipe advertised, designed or intended for use in the unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor.

Sec. 19. No person shall solicit or receive, nor knowingly permit his employee to solicit or receive, for any person any order for liquor or give any information of how liquor may be obtained in violation of this act.

Sec. 20.—Any person who shall be injured in person, property, means of support, or otherwise by any intoxicated person, or by reason of the intoxication of any person, whether resulting in his death or not, shall have a right of action against any person who shall be injured by unlawfully selling to or unlawfully assisting in procuring liquor for such intoxicated person, have caused or contributed to such intoxication, and in any such action such person shall have a right to recover actual and exemplary damages. In case of the death of either party the action or right of action given by this section shall survive to or against his or her executor or administrator, and the amount so recovered by either wife or child shall be his or her sole and separate property. Such action may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction. In any case where parents shall be entitled to such damages, either the father or mother may sue alone therefor, but recovery by one of such parties shall be a bar to suit brought by the other.

Sec. 21. Any room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure, or place where intoxicating liquor is manufactured, sold, kept or bartered in violation of this title, and all intoxicating liquor and property kept and used in maintaining the same, is hereby declared to be a common nuisance, and any person who maintains such a common nuisance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than $1000 or be imprisoned for not more than one year, or both. If a person has knowledge or reason to believe that his room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure or place is occupied or used for the manufacture or sale of liquor contrary to the provision of this title, and suffers the same to be so occupied or used, such room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure, or place shall be subject to a lien for and may be sold to pay all fines and costs assessed against the person guilty of such nuisance for such violation, and any such lien may be enforced by action in any court having jurisdiction.

Sec. 22. That any person who shall, with intent to effect a sale of liquor, by himself, his employee, servant or agent, for himself or any person, company or corporation, keep or carry around on his person or in a vehicle, or other conveyance whatever, or leave in a place for another to secure, any liquor, or who shall travel to solicit, or solicit, or take, or accept orders for the sale, shipment, or delivery of liquor in violation of this title shall for a first offense be fined not more than $1000, or imprisoned not exceeding six months, and for a second or subsequent offense shall be fined not less than $200 nor more than $2000 and be imprisoned not less than one month nor more than five years. This is amended by the Jones-Stalker Act which provides as follows: That wherever a penalty or penalties are prescribed in a criminal prosecution by the National Prohibition Act, (Volstead Act), as amended and supplemented, for the illegal manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation of intoxicating liquor, as defined by Section I, Title II, of the National Prohibition Act, (Volstead Act), the penalty imposed for each such offense shall be a fine not to exceed $10,000, or imprisonment not to exceed five years, or both; provided, that it is the intent of Congress that the court, in imposing the sentences hereunder, should discriminate between casual or slight violations and habitual sales of intoxicating liquor, or attempts to commercialize violations of the law. It also provides in Section 2 that the Jones-Stalker Act shall not repeal nor eliminate any minimum penalty for the first or any subsequent offense now provided for by the said National Prohibition Act.

Continuing with Section 39 of the Volstead Act, it provides that: Any person violating the provisions of any permit, or who makes any false record, report, or affidavit required by this title, or violates any of the provisions of this title, for which offense a special penalty is not prescribed, shall be fined for the first offense not more than $500.00; for a second offense not less than $100 nor more than $1000, or be imprisoned not more than ninety days; for any subsequent offense he shall be fined not less than $500 and be imprisoned not less than three months nor more than two years. It shall be the duty of the prosecuting officer to ascertain whether the defendant has been previously convicted and to plead the prior conviction in the affidavit, information, or indictment. The penalties provided in this Act against the manufacture of liquor without a permit shall not apply to a person for manufacturing non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices exclusively for use in his home, but such cider and fruit juices shall not be sold or delivered except to persons having permits to manufacture vinegar.

THE DOMINANT ISSUE
President Herbert Hoover
(Extracts from address to American Press, April 22, 1929)

No individual has the right to determine what law shall be obeyed and what law shall not be enforced. If a law is wrong, its rigid enforcement is the surest guaranty of its repeal. If it is right, its enforcement is the quickest method of compelling respect for it.

I have accepted this occasion for a frank statement of what I consider the dominant issue before the American people. Its solution is more vital to the preservation of our institutions than any other question before us. That is the enforcement and obedience to the laws of the United States, both federal and state.

I ask only that you weigh this for yourselves, and if my position is right, that you support it—not to support me but to support something infinitely more precious—the one force that holds our civilization together—law. And I wish to discuss it as law, not as to the merits or demerits of a particular law, but all law, federal and state, for ours is a government of law made by the people themselves.

There is another and vastly wider field than the nature of laws and the methods of their enforcement. This is the basic question of the understanding of the ideals, the relationship of the individual citizen to the law itself.

A surprising number of our people otherwise of responsibility in the community, have drifted into the extraordinary notion that laws are made for those who choose to obey them.

What we are facing today is—the possibility that respect for law as law is fading from the sensibilities of our people. Whatever the value of any law written in plain terms upon our statute books is not, in my mind, a debatable question.

Law should be observed and must be enforced until it is repealed by the proper processes of our democracy.

Finally I wish to reiterate that the problem of law enforcement is not alone a function or business of government. If law can be upheld only by enforcement officers, then our scheme of government is at an end. Every citizen has a personal duty—the duty to order his own actions to so weigh the effect of his example, that his conduct shall be a positive force to his community with respect to the law.

FISHERMEN HAPPY

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A new sounding system for locating schools of fish has made fishermen happy as well as prosperous along the English coast. The steam trawler Loughrigg recently returned with a record catch taken with the aid of an echo sounder. The sounder enabled the fishermen to keep the nets at the same depth as the fish at all times. Old methods did not provide for this, and the fish soon swam above or below the level of the nets.

DRAMA AND MUSIC ON RCA'S PROGRAM

Drama and music will be combined in a new type of RCA hour program which will be introduced to listeners when the weekly "University of the Air" presentation is broadcast through NBC system stations, including KFI, between 8 and 9 o'clock tonight.

The hour will be divided into three periods, to be shown during the new series as "The Wand of Youth," "The Records of Time" and "The Drama of Life." Each operatic selection will be heard in the first section, with Margaret O'Dea, contralto, and Harold Spaulding, tenor, as the soloists. Max Dolin will conduct the orchestra.

"Great Moments of History," dramatized versions of noteworthy events, will be enacted by National Players in the second period. "Theodore Roosevelt" is the title of the first dramatization. It tells the story of Roosevelt's early political battles and triumphs in the New York state legislature, his life on a ranch in North Dakota, and his activities as a deputy sheriff. Ted Maxwell will direct the production.

The program will close with operatic excerpts suggesting "The Drama of Life," presented by soloists and orchestra.

Drama Featured On KEJK Tonight

Presenting excerpts from the melodrama, "The Green Goddess," written by William Archer, Betty Middleton and players will be featured in KEJK half hour program between 9 and 9:30 tonight.

Semi-classical favorites by the KEJK orchestra, under the direction of J. Albert Erickson, will follow the half hour of melodrama. The orchestra will play "Blegie" by Massenet; "Butterfly" by Greig; "Mandoline" and other beautiful melodies.

Varying the orchestra program, Emma Lita Vantine, soprano, will sing "The Last Rose of Summer," "Be My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak and Dameselle. Howard Coombs will accompany the singer, and in addition will give a piano solo, "The Dance of the Witches."

TEN GREAT YEARS IN CALIFORNIA

TEN YEARS AGO this month Goodyear came to California and the greatest name in rubber was enrolled among western industries.

The decade now completed has seen the promise of that enrollment grow to glorious fulfillment.

Goodyear has prospered. California has prospered. Almost fifteen million tires have rolled from this Goodyear factory—by far the greatest tire production in the West. To produce these tires has called for millions in payrolls—new wealth, released first in Los Angeles, and spreading its benefits out through the arteries of western commerce to the farthest borders of this vast Pacific empire.

There is in all this a significance beyond that of mutual prosperity—a tribute for which Goodyear is deeply grateful.

It is the tribute of western motorists to the superior goodness of Goodyear Tires.

In the West, as in every other section of the country, more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

That they have consistently bought these tires and used them in overwhelming preference to any others, clearly denotes that they have found in Goodyear Tires a value, a security, a satisfaction beyond that which any other tires could provide.

This is a firm foundation on which to build the greater prosperity of a new decade—for Goodyear and for the West.

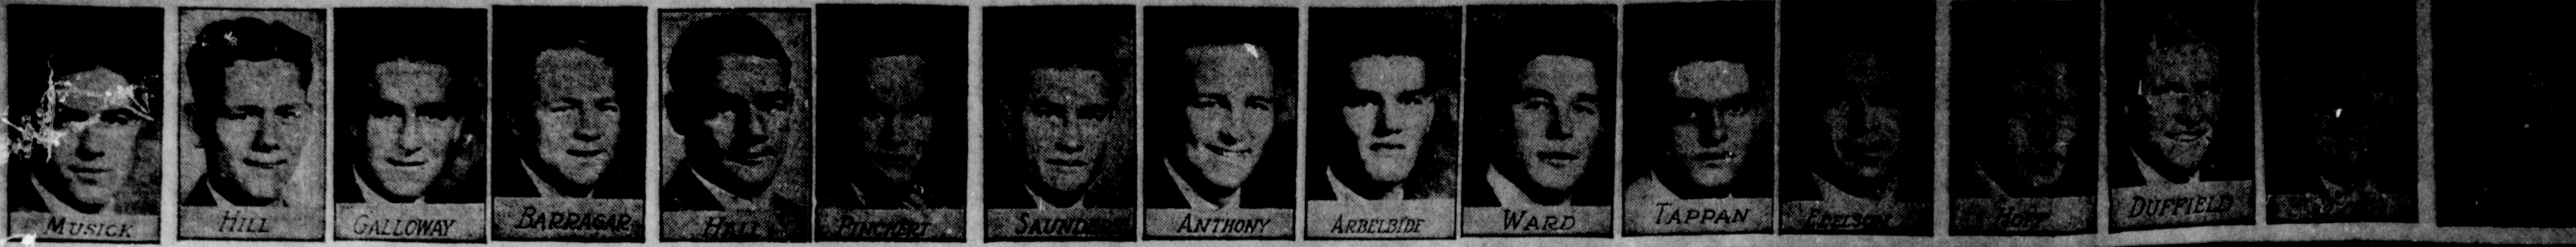

YOU ARE INVITED to visit the Goodyear factory any week day except Saturday. Trips start from lobby, 1:30 p.m.

SEATTLE CLUB MAY TRAIN IN SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 1.—Bald Bill Klepper, president of the Seattle baseball club, Dr. Earl V. Morrow, vice-president, and Ernie Johnson, manager, were in San Clemente yesterday.

They came to interview Ole Hanson relative to using the Spanish Village grassed diamond again for a spring training camp site for the Indians in 1930. Seattle trained at San Clemente last spring.

As Hanson was out of town the three officials, after spending several hours with Thomas J. Murphy, said they would return to the Spanish Village Friday for a conference with the founder and builder of San Clemente.

Klepper announced that several cities are seeking the Indians as training camp visitors but that he hopes arrangements can be made to again have the Tribe train here. All officials and critics proclaim the San Clemente diamond the best training camp field on the Pacific coast.

GRIDDER PICKS TROJANS OVER BEARS. 13 TO 7

BY GRIDDER

W L T Pct.
Griddier.....28 22 7 .560

Staggering along helplessly in the midst of his worst season of prognostications, Old Man Griddier expects more grief tomorrow when 22 more of his selections come up for examination.

Griddier has "batted" right around .800 for four years but the old fellow must be getting a bit childish. He has been off color since the first day of the season. Consequently, he almost advises his public to bet against his selections—and make money.

Griddier likes the Trojans of U.S.C. against California. He picks the "Herd" by a score of 13 to 7. It is now safe for the Golden Bears to spring the season's upset and win by a 13 to 7 score. That's protecting ourselves in the clinches.

Griddier ignores the Stanford-Caltech and other inconsequential games on the schedule. He is having a tough year but he still refuses to feed up on the set-ups.

Here's tomorrow's mistakes:

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—Joe Schlocker, local welterweight, who has just returned from a campaign in the east and the popular favorite here to defeat Frankie Forbes when they meet at the American Legion stadium tonight in the 10-round main event.

JOHNNY ADAMS S. A. FOOTBALL MEETS RIVERS ELEVENS DRAW HERE TUESDAY BYE TOMORROW

Yet a kid despite eight years of continual fighting, Johnny Adams, San Bernardino welterweight, will main-event the Orange County Athletic club's boxing show next Tuesday night. Promoter - Matchmaker H. T. Foust announced today.

The "Mountain Lion," the youthful veteran who once was the fistful idol of Southern California, has signed to meet Indian Jimmie Rivers, sturdy Fullerton battler, over an eight-round course.

This will be Adams' first competitive appearance here since the old four-round days a Boyd Ellis' Delhi "Barn."

Adams is only 23 but has engaged in approximately 250 bouts during his colorful career. He thrashed Ace Hudkins at Hollywood for the Pacific Coast lightweight championship in 1924. He beat Mushy Callahan, now the junior welterweight titleholder. Paul De Haze, Tommy O'Brien, Tommy Elks, Arizona Joe Rivers and scores of other good, mediocre and bad fighters have taken their beatings from the aggressive Adams.

Baby Jack Dempsey, new Wendell Long, will meet Knockout Brown, San Diego featherweight, in the six-round semi-main event.

Donnie Dundee, high class lightweight, meets Johnny Martinez in the special event, also listed for six rounds.

The two four's are given over to bantamweights. Luis Echeveste and Pastor Calope, the latter a Pasadena main-event boy, collide in the second spot. Louie Medina opens the show against Faster Manola.

SWIM STAR TO COMPETE

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 1.—Dorothy Moriarty, youthful Spanish Village swim star, will represent San Clemente at the Lake Norconian Pacific Coast championships November 10, according to Frank Holborow, in charge of the San Clemente Beach club team. Miss Moriarty will compete in the 50-yard event for girls 14 years or under.

'WANDERING WOP'

Joe Savoldi, champion brick-carrier of Three Oaks, Mich., is now one of Notre Dame's backfield aces. An obscure player last season, Savoldi now is rated as one of the best halfbacks in the middlewest. He is a stumpy, heavily-built little fellow but is exceptionally fast.

PORTLAND WILL NOT TRAIN AT FAIR GROUNDS

Portland's Beavers will not return to the Orange County Fair grounds for spring training next year, The Register learned today. The Pacific Coast league club will condition at San Jose, reporting late in February, it is understood. The Beavers trained here for the last two years but worked out at San Jose three years ago.

President Tom Turner and Secretary Roy Mack at one time wanted to lease the Fair grounds and pay the club's own training expenses but the plan was not received enthusiastically here.

The Orange County Fair board, which sponsored the 1928 and 1929 camps at a financial loss, was not ready to talk business.

There is a possibility, it was reported, that the Los Angeles club will come here in the spring. The Angels always have trained at Wrigley field but may be out of a camp next year if Wrigley's interests decide to utilize the Los Angeles park as stamping ground for the Chicago Cubs who have conditioned at Catalina Island in the past.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1.—Young Horton Smith, who hails from Joplin, Mo., appeared today as the favorite to win the Oregon open golf championship, after his record-breaking round over the Columbia Country club course Thursday.

Smith, who is credited with the lowest average of strokes in open golf tournaments this year, turned in a brilliant card of 34-38-37, yesterday, breaking the course record and leading a field of 118 of the country's foremost golfers in the first round.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA IS CONCEDED EDGE OVER U. C. TEAM IN COLISEUM GAME

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—The battle lines between the north and the south were drawn sharply today as 52 Golden Bears from the University of California massed before the hitherto unscathed walls of the 1929 University of Southern California Trojan football team. The Bears left their train at Glendale and immediately went to the Hotel Huntington to prepare for a light workout this afternoon.

The Trojans also had a shortall their energy to beat Stanford, workout on the tap in order that Coach Howard Jones might impart his final instructions to the men on whose shoulders rests a possible national title.

Football enthusiasm was running high in Los Angeles and football talk was plentiful. There were some exuberant backers of the Trojans who were ready to offer odds and points on the "Thundering Herd," but those "in the know" believed it was an even-Stephen proposition.

Trojan Strength Conceded
There is no denying the strength of the Trojans, it was conceded, but on the other hand it was pointed out that Coach "Nibs" Price and his California crew have weathered three hard battles this year while the Trojans massed

California was tied 0 to 0 by the strong St. Mary's team, beat Penn, 12 to 7, and last week the Bear reserves nipped the veteran Olympic club in a game that brought out the fact that Price has reserves.

Coach Jones and his players appeared to be unaffected by the optimism of the student body and of Los Angeles backers. Jones declared that he believed California was keyed to such an extent that the Trojans will have more difficulties than they meet at Stanford.

$40,000 Laguna Canyon Highway Plan Announced

$12,000 QUOTA OF SANTA ANA IN SEAL DRIVE

Residents of Santa Ana are expected to purchase $12,000 worth of Christmas seals this year. It was announced today by H. A. Lake, president of the Orange County Tuberculosis association. The county quota is $35,000.

Pointing out that the county is divided into districts, with each district being assigned a quota, the president said that the quotas were based upon a survey of the population and wealth of the respective districts.

"The money received from the sale of Christmas seals will be used for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis in Orange county," Lake said. "One of the greatest benefits to the county will be in the use of the money for maintenance of the health camp, near Irvine park."

"The Orange County Health camp is well known throughout the state. It was organized for the benefit of children who have a tendency toward tuberculosis and its operation has prevented the disease from gaining ground in the county. The camp is a preventorium. It has for its purpose the building up of resistance against tuberculosis in children."

"The camp has been supported through Christmas seal sales, state association aid and individual support on the part of public spirited citizens. At present, the camp shows a deficit in funds. To a large extent, the success of the seal sale means the success of the camp."

WILL DISCUSS RACE PROBLEM IN S. A. CHURCH

Dr. Ralph W. McGranahan, of Pittsburgh, Pa., an associate secretary of the board of American missions of the United Presbyterian church, will speak in the Santa Ana church Sunday night.

Dr. McGranahan, with the aid of motion pictures, will present the work of the board of American missions among the Negroes of the south, with particular emphasis upon the educational work that is being done in Knoxville college, Knoxville, Tenn. The agricultural, industrial and educational work among the mountaineers of Tennessee, Kentucky, and Arkansas, scenes from the American frontier life and among the alien populations and industrial centers also will be presented.

Dr. McGranahan was president of Knoxville college for a number of years and is familiar with the race problem of the south. He is visiting the churches of his denomination in Washington, Oregon and California in the interests of an educational program under the direction of the board of American missions.

PLANS FOR NEW $250,000 MAUSOLEUM IN FAIRHAVEN CEMETERY ARE ANNOUNCED

An improvement program, involving an expenditure of approximately $250,000, was announced today by A. C. Bowers, president of the board of trustees of Fairhaven cemetery, who revealed plans for a spacious and beautiful new mausoleum, possessing every modern and essential feature possible to include in such a structure.

Plans now are being developed for the new building and construction work is expected to start in a short time. Other items in the improvement program include about two miles of concrete curbing and gutters, macadamizing of the streets of the cemetery and acquisition of the seven-acre orange grove lying just east of Fairhaven cemetery, which recently was purchased from Walter Frick and will be available for cemetery use when needed.

The mausoleum, which will be located in Fairhaven cemetery, northeast of Santa Ana, will contain 1500 crypts, a columbarium with niches for the receipt of urns containing ashes, receiving vault and crematory. "Fairhaven cemetery, so readily accessible, yet aloof from the noise and traffic, makes an ideal setting for the structure," Bowers stated.

One of the features of the mausoleum will be a magnificent chapel, of Grecian design, in which

CHEST POSTERS ARE PLACED IN WINDOWS

Posters announcing the Community Chest drive for funds, commencing November 12, are being distributed and are beginning to appear in the windows of downtown office buildings, stores and shops.

The poster this year carries the slogan, "Be a good neighbor," under a picture of three children, raggedly dressed, the two smaller ones clinging to the older girl, who has her arms outstretched in appeal to those looking at the poster.

Over 500 of the posters are being distributed in Santa Ana to carry the message of the Chest and to help the workers in their efforts to reach their goal of $50,050.

DRAKE RELATES EXPERIENCES IN ESKIMO TRIBE

That R. H. Drake, superintendent of school properties for the board of education here, is in line for the chieftainship of the Muskquim tribe of Eskimos, in the southwestern part of Alaska, was revealed when Drake yesterday related to the Lions club some of his experiences in that section of the cold north when stationed there for a year and a half during the war.

Coincidentally with the revelation was the exhibition by Drake of a belt given him for services to the tribe in various ways, a belt which the speaker asserted was the only one of its kind in the world and the souvenir he regarded most highly among a number he brought out with him when he returned to the United States.

Drake was sent into Alaska by the interior department for war service and he pointed out that he was called upon to perform various kinds of services, not the least of which was administering to the sick.

Treatment of a son of the chief of the tribe for an injured knee was the act that brought to the Santa Ana man the possible situation of his becoming chief of the tribe, should he care to exercise the privilege. It is a legend of the Eskimo of this particular tribe that no son of the chief who has a crippled leg may succeed him to the throne. The son of the chieftain treated by Drake was threatened with a stiff knee, but Drake cured him and, in return for this "miracle," was made the first son of the chief, being, as a result, in line for leadership of the tribe.

'LA TRAVIATA,' TO BE GIVEN HERE NOVEMBER 26, FILLED WITH BEAUTY AND PATHOS

A great deal of gratifying enthusiasm already is being manifested among Orange county music lovers in regard to the performance here of Verdi's celebrated "La Traviata," which is scheduled for presentation by Orange County Grand Opera company Tuesday night, November 26, in the Fox Spurgeon theater.

Mme. Maria Caselotti, famous coloratura soprano and opera singer, celebrated on both continents as an artist of first rank, will appear in the title role of "Traviata" on this occasion. Based on the famous Dumas masterpiece, "La Dame Aux Camelias," one of the favorite dramatic productions for two generations, "La Traviata," one of the best-loved of the Italian operas, is one of the most beautiful works of its class and is full of lovely, richly woven melodies.

The familiar story of the unfortunate heroine has caused countless tears to be shed by sympathetic listeners, since both the operatic and the familiar stage version, popularly known as "Camille," have hosts of admirers universally who never fail to pack theaters upon the presentation of this dramatic masterpiece.

The most famous stars of stage and opera triumphantly have filled the highly emotional role of Violetta at the height of their sensational careers, while recent film versions of the romantic, tragic story have moved hearts in every land.

"Traviata," a story of passion and youthful romance, will wake a thrill of memory in every heart. Violetta, the beautiful heroine, has been thrown by adverse circumstances into a course of voluptuous living. Surrounded by a circle of gay friends, she devotes her life to pleasure.

Among her associates is Alfred Germont, a young man, who falls seriously in love with her. Touched by his sincerity, she in turn comes to love him truly, becoming conscious for the first time of the hollow sham of her past life.

Violetta and Alfred spend a blissful three months together in the country. During his absence one day, Alfred's father comes and pleads with Violetta to give him up. Convinced that the parting will be to her lover's best interest, Violetta finally agrees, after a bitter struggle.

Returning to Paris in despair, she renews the gay life of the past, striving to drown her sorrow in festivity. Arriving at the height of a gay party where Violetta is present with a new admirer, Alfred, in terrible jealousy and anger, publicly insults Violetta, unaware of the motive that was back of her desertion.

Crushed by her lover's scorn, Violetta sinks rapidly beneath the ravages of grief and illness. She returns home to die and Alfred eventually learns the truth too late, discovering the sacrifice that she made for his sake. He hastens to her side, striving to reawaken the dream that has passed, but Violetta dies in his arms, the closing moments of her life full of beauty and pathos.

Effective scenery and lavish costuming are in readiness for this operatic performance, which it is felt will be one of the most outstanding of musical events ever presented in this section.

Warner Manager Of Seal Sales

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 1.—Hal Warner, manager of the city building department, has been made chairman of the Christmas seal sales committee here. The appointment was announced yesterday by Amelia Meagher, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis association. The sale will open November 29.

PROGRAM TO BE SUBMITTED TO BOARD TUESDAY

A $40,000 improvement program for one of Orange county's most picturesque highways, the Laguna canyon road, will be launched next Tuesday by Nat Neff, highway superintendent. It was learned today, when it was announced that plans and specifications for the project would be filed with the board of supervisors at their next meeting.

The plan calls for resurfacing of three miles of the road from the city limits of Laguna Beach to the end of the strip of concrete pavement at the north end of the canyon. The road will be widened from 16 to 18 feet and will be given a new asphalt surface.

It is expected that filing of plans next Tuesday will make it possible for bids on the work to be opened by the supervisors in about three weeks, probably on November 26. With the completion of the project Orange county will have two high class and picturesque highways leading into Laguna Beach to accommodate the heavy summer traffic.

Sharp curves on the road will be reduced. The long curve about two miles from the center of Laguna Beach will have a large radius. Resurfacing of the road will necessitate rebuilding of a domestic water pipe line which is laid in the canyon.

The cutoff bridge near Irvine, which will enable Laguna Beach traffic to utilize the overhead crossing above the Santa Fe tracks, is practically complete and approaches are being constructed at the present time. It is expected that the bridge will be placed in use in about a month. A 30-foot graded road, with a 20-foot gravel and macadam surface, will connect the bridge with the present canyon road.

Costume Party in Crowell Home

A group of friends of Miss Marjorie Crowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crowell, of 724 South Fulton street, garbed in costumes, quaint and curious, gathered at her home last night to await the coming of such creatures of the shadow world as ride forth on All Hallow's Eve.

The living rooms of the home were festooned with black and orange streamers that waved mysteriously in the dim light of jack-o'-lanterns. The early part of the evening was devoted to guessing the identities of various guests.

Especially mysterious was the girl in white (Miss Irene Catland) who wandered among the guests, pausing occasionally to tell a fortune. Later in the evening when the group had adjourned to the garden, she presided over a steaming cauldron from which she drew fortunes for those wishing them.

Following several ghost stories, the party returned to the house where Mrs. Crowell, assisted by Miss Will Fowler, and Mrs. Fred Schellman, served a delicious supper. Those enjoying the party were Misses Marjorie Dickson, Evelyn Bosse, Gerry Smith, LeVerne Stewart, Ethel Dean, Marjorie Ransom, Jean House, Helen Wiebe, Martha Sharkey, Nello Winans, Martha Wright, Martha Zolkelet, Ann Scherer, Madeline Winchell, and Madeline Crowell and Richard Hancock, Glen Evans, Perry Winchell, Ernest Goodman, Don Parks, Oliver Edwards, Roy Owens, Orris Lingerburg, Frank Landsdown, Coy Maret, Melvin Durbin, Wallace McGee and Marvin Spicer.

Jolly Affair

One of the jolliest of Hallowe'en parties occurred last night, when members of the Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church of Tustin, journeyed to a large barn near Greenville. Many games preceded the evening, until a late hour, when refreshments were served.

Forty guests took part in the evening's entertainment.

White Shriners Preside
At Very Successful
Hallowe'en Party

Attracting a crowd of nearly 400 Hallowe'en merry-makers, the big dance and card party staged last night in Knights of Pythias hall, was one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever given here and was a fitting celebration of the witch's season.

Miss Henrietta Bohling, worthy priestess of the Shrine, had a capable group of workers to carry out the ideas of the affair, and with W. O. Patterson as general chairman, assisted by A. H. Gritton, the various committees functioned in a faultless manner. The big ballroom of the temple was wreathed with autumnal decorations as a setting for the dancers, and Harrell's orchestra furnished the liveliest of musical programs. William J. Dean as floor manager, introduced many novel numbers which served to mix the crowd very thoroughly and the gay costumes worn by guests contributed to the colorful scene.

Decorations had been arranged by Mrs. Harry J. Roberts and her committee, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Tarpley, H. J. Roberts, Mesdames George Shippe, Neal Beisel and William J. Dean. An enjoyable period was provided by a heavy of pretty girls from the Putnam School of Dancing, who were loudly applauded for the witches' dance number. In this group were the Misses Taletha Dahl, Erica Wilde, Lorelei Buell, Jewell Thebaud, Roberta Horton, Jeanne McClay and Le Fay Morris.

Acting as a hospitality committee were Messrs. and Mesdames O. Patterson, Neal Beisel, W. B. McConnell, James A. Tarpley, Judson G. Sutherland, Miss Henrietta Bohling and A. H. Gritton, while in charge of the tickets were Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Merle Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Tarpley.

One of the most popular features of the evening was the gypsy camp to which one of the large rooms was devoted, and where dim lights twinkled among the piled-up shocks of corn. Mrs. Charles H. Ryan, in charge of this feature, presided as one of the gypsy fortune-tellers, while others told the future for interested patrons, were Mrs. L. R. Crawford, and Mrs. True Kimball. Mrs. Ryan also had the assistance of Mrs. R. A. Evans, Mrs. A. E. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hyde and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, while Charles H. Ryan in appropriate costume, served as "barker," calling people to the fortune-tellers' tents. Mrs. J. E. Vinson and Mrs. W. G. Lewis presided over the "wishing well."

Fully half a hundred guests found their chief interest in bridge to which one room was devoted, and where the holder of high score at each of the dozen or more tables, was suitably rewarded by the committee composed of Mrs. Elton Roehm, Mrs. Thomas R. Overton and Mrs. B. E. Dawson.

In the intervals of dancing or cards, the guests enjoyed lead fruit punch served by Mrs. Okey Jameson, Mrs. Adelaide Windsor and Miss Beattie Lighthall.

An entertaining feature of the evening was the grand march for those in costume, with Messrs. R. A. Evans, Ralph Danker and Howard Collins asked to serve as judges. The three were unanimous in awarding the prizes to H. J. Roberts for his clever rustic costume, and to Mrs. Roberts, who was a most engaging SYDNEY.

CHURCH SOCIETIES
Executive Board
The Women's society of the First Baptist church met Wednesday afternoon as guests of Mrs. Nell Beisel and Miss Emily Cox.

The business meeting was preceded by a delightful social hour when a pot luck luncheon was served. Small tables were attractive with pretty linens and center pieces of assorted fall flowers.

The business meeting, presided over by Mrs. E. A. Bell, was opened with prayer by Mrs. Owens. A number of worthy objects were presented to the board and were recommended to the Women's society for favorable action.

To avoid conflict with Thanksgiving plans the board's next meeting will be Tuesday, November 26th with Mrs. Warren Brakeman and Mrs. Earl Glenn as hostesses.

COUNTRY LADS AND LASSIES
ENJOY HALLOWE'EN REVELS

Dropping the shovels and spades with which they had been toiling during the day, leaving their teams resting in the harness, and forgetting the fall plowing which must be resumed with the coming of another day, all the farmer lads of the Santa Ana Country club membership last night called their best girls from kitchen and dairy, to join in the Hallowe'en revels in the big hay-barn, otherwise known as the Country club. There amidst the bales of sweet-scented hay, the tall shocks of corn and the golden pumpkins of a liberal harvest, the sun-burned lads and lasses of the farm enjoyed their bucolic revels with all the enthusiasm of those to whom such a holiday comes but once a year.

Thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of the season, Mr. and Mrs. McGilvray of the clubhouse management, had converted the big ballroom and sojourn into a perfect picture of farm life. Tables were spread with the course dinner was served preceding the dancing, were spread with bright-colored calico upon which favors of black cats, witches' caps and a variety of noise-producing toys, were scattered with lavish hand.

In the center of the ballroom, a huge farm wagon proved an ideal refuge for the musicians of Lou Traveller's orchestra who came from Los Angeles to offer the delightful dance music. Varying the program as offered by the orchestra, were several old-time numbers in which J. W. ("Dad") Mitchell of this city, and Mr. Crook, a guest of J. L. Wheeler and a member of Eldridge Country club, served as "fiddlers." Their lively music inspired many couples to join in a cotillon and old-fashioned square dances. In the intervals of dancing, the guests found artfully placed bales of hay the most restful of seats. Disguises were probably the most varied in nature that have ever appeared at a similar event in the country club and on every side was to be heard the opinion that in all its successful history the Santa Ana Country club had never presented so enjoyable and so colorful a party.

To be in keeping with the prevailing motif, the prizes selected to reward those whose costumes were deemed to be especially clever, were a young pig, a duck and a rabbit, all alive, but suggesting toothsome Thanksgiving dinners in the near future. Judges in this important event were Dr. James E. Paul, Mrs. Joseph Warner, Mrs. Roy Russell, Samuel P. Nau and R. G. Cartwright and in the grand march at 11 o'clock, they made a selection of some two dozen amusing characters from among whom, the final three were selected.

Clarence Trickey had appeared at the revels in the hopelessly faded, lavishly patterned skirt of a plow boy, his black wig floating in the breezes, and to him was awarded first prize. Mrs. Thomas Talbot, a freckled, impudent little Sis Hopkins in a costume contrived from flour sacks, took second place, while Mrs. Carl Mook's elaborate "basque," trailing skirts looped over a bustle and amazing hat easily secured for her the remaining prize.

Many members took the opportunity to entertain groups of friends at the dinner and dance, one of the largest parties being that of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Farnsworth, who had reserved a table for Messrs. and Mesdames Charles P. Boyer, Samuel W. Nau, George S. Smith, Thomas Talbot, Joseph H. Metzger, Adam Zaiser, Theodore Wimbler, Hugh Wiley, Joseph Warner, Frank Purinton, Elmer Crawford, James E. Liebig, Irwin F. Landis, Dr. and Mrs. James E. Paul, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Zaiser, Mrs. Grace Zaiser and Messrs. Arthur Lyon and Don Zaiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams entertained half a dozen guests, as did Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine, Jr., C. Young and Carl Mook. Hume West entertained a party of eight young people, and Adrian Marks was host at another group composed of half a dozen members of the younger set. Dr. John Ball was host to a party of eight; Richard Emission, John Wheeler, J. K. Hermon, R. R. MacDonald and Charles Swanner each had tables for four guests, while among those forming that lively group known as the "Dutch Treat table" were Messrs. and Mesdames C. P. Patton and J. K. MacDonald, of Huntington Beach; C. Blodgett, Paul Bowen, K. R. Furr, Edwin D. Holmes, Jr., Lawrence Bemis, R. L. Tedford, C. V. Davis, E. K. Gerhardt, Howard Rapp, Roy Russell, Jack R. Porter, B. J. MacMullin, R. O. Winckler, Lawrence D. Coffing, Lester Carden, Dr. W. A. Flood, Dr. John Wehrly, Jr., Judge Tucker, Dr. Vincent A. Rossiter, Robert Fernandez and many others.

Is Gambling Wrong?
Sometimes I Think It Is — BUT — Sometimes I Think It Isn't
By VELVA G. DARLING

Racketeers in finance are proving daily that gambling for the average man is about the worst way he can spend his time. Here is one of their tricks: "A small merchant in Omaha, for instance, gets a letter marked personal and confidential with an engraved letter head, and bearing every evidence of having come from such a respectable institution as the Federal Reserve Bank. It informs Mr. So and So that in confirmation of a previous long distance telephone call, the pool operating in Gumdrops preferred has been completed and that the stock an actual buying interest in the stock, while the crooks unload. Wrong? It's SCURVY!

But take any young man just starting out in business for himself. Every penny he has saved he puts into his infant business—plus all the money he can borrow from the bank and from his friends. And the only guarantee that he will even get his OWN money back and the money he has borrowed, is his own good health and brain power. Rather a fragile thing to gamble good money on! The brain power and physical health of one man! But that is the kind of gamble that gives the game of living its sudden thrills, its breathless adventures, its unexpected rewards. The mere act of living at all is a gamble. But nobody ever thinks of criticizing it for THAT quality. Why you never know when you eat your breakfast in the morning whether you will be alive to enjoy your lunch! You might not step quite quickly enough out of the path of an automobile—and then where would you be? (I'm not selling insurance.)

Sometimes I think everything in the whole wide world is a gamble—a wonderful gamble! There wouldn't be an fun in BREATHING if there wasn't a bit of uncertainty about what would happen if you stopped. And yet when I think of the money clever crooks are making upon the gambling instinct of the not very smart average man, it makes me boil and bubble—like the witches' cauldron in Shakespeare. Can't somebody do something to protect fools? I, for instance, am JUST the person who would fall for the slight-of-hand gag in the first paragraph. Heaven help me!

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Right on top of the fashion announcement that men are going to wear colored hats and shoes next spring, and look like the spring landscape, comes the further hint that they may smell of the heater and the great open spaces.

No less a person than Capt. Edward Molyneux, one of the most inspired of French couturiers and perfumers, with one of the most fashionable ateliers in Paris, who is now in this country, has announced that he is going to blend a perfume particularly for men.

Before he became a designer, Molyneux was a soldier and a sportsman. Incidentally he is a Britisher with an outstanding record in the World war, where he won his captain's commission. So he is not going to try to interest men in saturating their kerchiefs in jasmine or wearing sachet bags in their coat pockets.

MASCULINE PERFUMERY

He is compounding a perfume that would be right in line with the masculine idea, not to be scorned by a Dempsey or Tunney. It will have something of the odor that clings to leather mixtures and Scotch tweeds—not cloying or sweet, but faint and fresh.

It is his theory that men might as well definitely use a perfume they like instead of being victims of the hit and miss face lotions, hair tonics and bay rum mixtures beloved of barber shops.

"Why," he asks, "should not a man definitely use a pleasing perfume—one that is well thought out and thoroughly masculine? Is not that more desirable than the aroma of fresh starch from his shirt, shoe blacking from his shoes or tobacco from his oldest pipe?"

The idea is not entirely new. I know a woman perfumer in New York who compounds perfumes for men, and she tells me that some of her most profitable customers are men. The first requisite in catering to men seems to be to produce a liquid that does not smell like perfume.

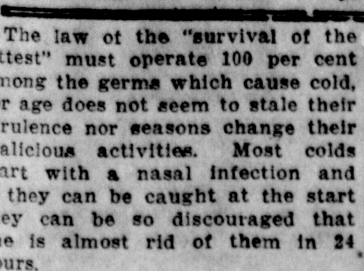

Her "number" that is most pleasing to her male clients is one with an odor slightly comparable to leather. It carries with it a suggestion of the saddle, she explained, that seems to make a hit with men, even though they do not ride.

The MIXING BOWL

by ANN MEREDITH

The law of the "survival of the fittest" must operate 100 per cent among the germs which cause colds, for age does not seem to stale their virulence nor seasons change their malicious activities. Most colds start with a nasal infection and if they can be caught at the start they can be so discouraged that one is almost rid of them in 24 hours.

At the first premonitory chill or sneeze get down the soda box, measure out a teaspoonful, mix with a glass of water and drink it. Do this at half-hour intervals until three doses have been taken. From then on take frequent drinks of orange or lemon juice diluted with water, and at bed time a hot bath and a cup of hot milk, and of course, a cathartic if you need one.

Contrary to the belief of many people that colds are the result of a vagrant wind playing tag with you, colds are caused by that well-known little animal, a germ. All germ infection creates an acid condition in the body due to destruction of tissue. The alkaline in soda offsets this acid condition. Orange, lemon juice and milk are also alkaline in milder percentage, and follow up the quick work done by the powerful alkaline in the soda.

Delicate Egg Souffle
3 cups hot milk
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
1-2 teaspoon salt
Pepper and paprika
4 eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately.

Make a thin cream sauce out of the milk, butter and flour. It must be carefully made to retain the delicate flavor, so heat the milk in a double boiler, melt the butter and blend with the flour. Stir this into the hot milk and cook for five minutes. Take from the fire and season nicely.

Beat egg yolks and whites separately. The yolks must be beaten until thick and yellow and then thinned slightly by the addition of half a cup of cream sauce. Set aside for the moment while the whites are beaten stiff and dry. Combine the whole mixture—whip the beaten yolks into the cream sauce and then fold in the whites with that cutting motion, under-and-up. Pour into a shallow buttered baking dish and bake for 20 minutes in a very moderate oven.

Don't forget that egg mixtures curdle when too intense heat is used. The proper heat for this souffle is 325 degrees F. and to be on the safe side, the souffle dish should sit in another containing hot water.

There are 840 calories in the souffle and portions for six if the souffle is served to replace meat. This is a fine protein dish, especially good for children, and

DOUBLE BILL WILL CLOSE RUN TONIGHT

The double feature bill presented in the Fox-West Coast theater yesterday, with "Modern Love," an all-talking feature comedy, and "The One Woman Idea," a Fox silent film, close their run there tonight.

Both pictures are unusually interesting with "Modern Love," probably being the best from an entertaining standpoint. It is the story of a girl who marries but who forces her husband to live apart from her because she would lose her position if her marriage became known.

The plan works well until the French owner of the store where she is employed falls in love with her, inviting her to return to Paris with him "on business." She starts, then realizes that she must stay with her husband, and in a startling climax she returns to him, leaving the Frenchman on the boat.

"The One Woman Idea" stars Marceline Day and Rod LaRocque. It is the story of a Persian prince, who, while enroute from London to Port Said, falls in love with an Englishman's wife, but because of his religion refuses to tell her about it. They meet later, when he saves her, and all ends well.

A Fox Movietone news reel also is shown.

CLARA BOW PICTURE OPENS IN BROADWAY

"The Saturday Night Kid," latest of Clara Bow's all-talking Paramount productions, starts a three-day run in the Fox Broadway theater today.

With more pep than usual and with an unusually good story for a background, "The Saturday Night Kid" is proving one of Miss Bow's most popular pictures.

It is the story of two sisters, clerks in a department store. Jean Arthur plays the part of the sister and both are in love with James Hall, a clerk in the store also, who later is promoted to floorwalker.

Clara plays the part of the sister who always is sacrificing for the other sister, until she learns that Jean is deliberately trying to steal her sweetheart. They quarrel and Jean admits that she has used some of the company's money to bet on horse races. Clara gets the money back from the crook Jean placed it with after an exciting "crap" game.

The climax of the picture comes when Clara wins her lover and the relations between the sisters again reach an even trend. A Mack Bennett all-talking comedy, "Hollywood Stars," a Paramount playlet, "After Seven," and a Fox Movietone news reel complete the bill.

The most vital factor of any cemetery or mausoleum is the Endowment Fund, and it is the one important feature least investigated by the prospective purchaser.

Fairhaven Cemetery and Mausoleum

BRIGHT FUTURE SEEN FOR JEWS OF PALESTINE

As a reader of your valuable paper, I have taken keen interest in the articles, regarding the present status of the Jew in Palestine, and the serious conflict with his ancient enemy, the Arab.

Many, and various, are the opinions regarding the present warfare. It is an old controversy, and these recent clashes for supremacy, recall the combats, when Joshua and Gideon, and their valiant armies, took possession of the land "promised to Abraham and his seed forever."

Man's opinion, on this important subject, unless founded on the Scriptures, is of no real value. God's voice and His many warnings and promises, regarding his ancient, and much loved people, must be taken into consideration.

At the great Religious Council, held at Jerusalem, James declared (Acts 15: 14-17) that (a) God had visited the Gentiles, to take out of them a people; (b) Jesus would return and build up Zion; (c) ultimately, the Gentile nations would come to a knowledge of the truth.

Zachariah, eight, and Romans eleven, contain God's plan for the restoration of the Jew—he is to find salvation, and be saved as a nation. That glad day will surely come, for the scriptures declare, that "They shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn." (Zachariah 12:10.)

God will forgive, and comfort them, just as Joseph did his brethren when he said, "Fear not, I am Joseph your brother, whom ye sold into Egypt." His return to Palestine is specifically stated in Jeremiah, twenty-three, three and eight—"And I will gather three and eight—"And I will father all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds; and they shall be fruitful and increase."

"But the Lord liveth, which brought up and which led the seed of the house of Israel out of the north country, and from all countries whither I had driven them; and they shall dwell in their own land."

Jeremiah 30:10-11. "Therefore fear thou not, I my servant Jacob, saith the Lord; neither be dismayed, O Israel; for I, I will save thee from afar, and thy seed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return, and shall be in rest, and be quiet, and none shall make him afraid."

"For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee, though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee; but I will correct thee in measure, and will not leave thee altogether unpunished."

Jeremiah 32:27-28. "Behold, I will gather them out of all countries, whither I have driven them in mine anger, and in my fury, and in great wrath; and I will bring them again into this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely. And they shall be my people, and I will be their God."

Ezekiel 37:21, 22. "And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land; and I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all; and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all."

Amos 9:14-15. "And I will bring again the captivity of my people Israel, and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof; they shall make gardens, and eat the fruit of them."

"And I will plant them upon their land, and they shall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given them, saith the Lord thy God." Many more similar passages might be quoted.

The Arabs are organized under king Faisal to get possession of Palestine. They cannot succeed. They are the descendants of Ishmael, son of Hagar, and not in the line of God's promise.

From present day events, it seems that God is beginning to deal in a remarkable manner with the Jew. He is once more on his way to the promised land. For many centuries, he has been the football of the nations; a sojourner in all lands, yet without a country of his own. Many will rejoice that he is homeward bound, and will once more enjoy the favor and blessing of God, who has watched over him through all his history.

This remnant will pass through great trials, and be dealt with according to God's prophetic word. It will form a nucleus, out of which shall be built up a strong and powerful nation, with Jesus as Messiah. Later, they will become the great missionaries to the Gentile nations.

Zionism, the Balfour Mandate over Palestine, Jewish colonization, changed climatic conditions, adoption of the Hebrew language, building of a Jewish university and other educational institutions, rapid development of electric power, and the discovery of great wealth in the mineral deposits of the Dead Sea, are all indications of the great changes taking place, and favorable to the return of the Jew to Palestine, and the fulfillment of prophecy.

Elderly People
conquer constipation

DR. CALDWELL made a startling discovery shortly after he graduated from medical school back in 1875. He found great numbers—especially older men and women—suffering from constipation, who were taking harsh laxatives and purgatives. So he concluded that many things people take for constipation do more harm than good, and physicians of today are of the same opinion.

This thought made Dr. Caldwell conduct a search, and out of it came the prescription which made him famous. Over and over he wrote it, when he found people bilious, headachy, out-of-sorts, weak or feverish; with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy. Its action was so thorough even in the most obstinate cases, and yet so gentle with women and children. The product you get from your drug store, today, when you ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is put up exactly in accordance with this prescription. It has become the world's most popular laxative. It is a pleasant tasting mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; it is a real corrective for constipation for men, women and children.

The MUTUAL ORANGE DISTRIBUTORS

Returned to its Grower-Members of ORANGE COUNTY

an average of

3.21 Cents

Per Pound Net
to the Grower

For every pound of navel oranges including smallest sizes and culls marketed during the 1928-1929 Season.

This average was arrived at by dividing the total net returns paid to our Orange County growers by the total number of pounds (actual door weight) of navels delivered by them to their packing houses.

We Respectfully Suggest

To all of our growers that in comparing returns they make such comparisons on the pound (actual door weight) or loose box basis (actual deliveries) since comparisons on a packed box basis do not reveal the percentage of pack-out or the amount of culls or other navels not marketed.

The Above Average Was Obtained Through:

Please Remember That

the above figure of 3.21 cents is a general average. Individual growers' returns vary with the quality and size of their fruit. However, the net average for the county reflects the efficiency of the citrus group and that average for all U. S. D. growers in Orange County for 1928-1929 navels was 3.21 CENTS PER POUND.

NEW FOUNTAIN SCHEDULED IN MISSION PATIO

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 1.—Work on the beautiful new fountain to be erected in the Mission San Juan Capistrano will start next week, it was learned today from the Rev. Father St. John O'Sullivan, rector of the famous California landmark.

The fountain, which was designed by Charles P. Austin, well known artist, is of Hispano-California architecture, and will fit into the general scheme of reconstruction started many years ago by San Juan's padre, and is part of the general plan formed by him when reconstruction work was started.

The diameter of the bowl is 30 feet, while the height is three feet, four inches. The fountain's bowl is 20 inches high and is five feet, six inches in diameter. The figure in the center is a quadrangle with a symmetrical theme. On each side of the quadrangle a face is carved, each face representing one of the four apostles, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Beside the construction of the fountain, the padre of reconstruction is planning on beautifying the entire patio in the near future, with shrubs, trees, flowers and quiet walks. The trees will be orange and Italian cypress with boxwood hedges surrounding the walks. Flowers will make the entire patio a riot of color. The plan for beautification of the patio is characteristic of Spanish patios. Funds for the financing of the fountain are being raised by private subscription among those interested in the reconstruction of one of California's famous landmarks. The subscription work is in charge of W. H. Griswold. Donations in $50 units are being solicited. The total cost of the fountain will be $2000, according to the padre, while the total cost of beautification, including the fountain is estimated at $10,000.

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 1.—Decision to appoint a sewer committee from the council and the awarding of the contract for the sewer of El Mirador tract were the chief items of business transacted by the council Wednesday evening. Appointments will be made later.

BEACH COUNCIL TO NAME SEWER BODY

The sewer matter was brought before the council when A. B. Marshall pointed out the many complaints that had been made and asserted that the need of sewers is obvious and that there should be no further delay.

Awarding of contract was merely a formality as bids had been made several months ago for extension of the sewer into the El Mirador tract.

Councilman Riddell reported on the construction of a footpath on Wilson street for use of school children, with steps and a footbridge at the bottom, with a similar arrangement over what is known as Blue Canyon. Minor matters before the city fathers were the application of Virgil Cole as a member of the fire department, request from Perry Clark that city licenses for barbers be reduced, report of Councilman C. E. Clapp regarding the diving float, now city property, which must be brought to shore, and a lengthy and detailed one by City Engineer A. J. Stead regarding a controversy over sewer connections where it is apparent that lines have not been run to property lines before concrete paving was put in.

An incomplete poll was taken of members of the chamber of commerce and executive Fullerton citizens regarding the matter of annexing of Landowne to the city. It was reported by Secretary Harry May, who declared that the poll showed an overwhelming majority in favor of the annexation of the 40-acre tract.

A report of the citizens' committee which was appointed to confer with the city council in regard to expansion of the present water system was made by Dr. W. H. CITY IMPROVES BEACH PARK IN LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 1.—Improvement of Holsier park, the city's 8000-foot strip along the ocean, with a curb on the south side of Cliff drive and the grading of Cliff drive, has been started. Funds appropriated by the board of supervisors several years ago and turned over to the city when it was incorporated are being used for the purpose.

The county allotted $2500 several years ago to be used by a committee on improving the park. When the city was incorporated, the supervisors promised to turn the fund to the city if certain plans for its use were satisfactory. These included the drawing of a sketch of the park and the detailing of expected landscaping, this work being done by Mrs. Lucia Fox Edwards. Though Mrs. Edwards gave her services, the draughtsmen were paid out of the park fund. It is the remainder of this sum that is being used for the improvement work.

The council planned to have about $12,000 available for additional work to carry out the landscaping plans drawn by Mrs. Edwards, but the bond issue which would have provided the additional money was turned down by the voters at the election.

THE ANYMATES

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

You couldn't blame the cackling hen for chasing frightened Clowny. The careless lad had stepped on a nest of thirteen eggs. When the pile of hay they flew, the next thing that was Clowny was he toppled flat because he couldn't stand upon his legs. The hen then lit upon his head and pecked until poor Clowny said, "Get away. That hurts. My head is not made out of wood. I promise I will never again disturb peaceful, setting hen. Let me alone and after this I always will be good."

By this time all the others "woke" and what they saw seemed quite a joke. Then Scouty scampered "cross the hay and waved his arms in air. "Get out of here," he loudly cried. "Go on there, chicken, fly aside. You've paid wee Clowny back by giving him an awful scare."

Of course this scared the flapping hen. She cackled very loud and then flew straightway out a window and soon disappeared from sight. Poor Clowny sat and rubbed his head and then he very meekly said, "I thought that was my finish, boys, but now I feel all right." "Shucks," said Carpy. "Just when we were sleeping soundly as could be, you had to start a rumpus. Now we all are wide awake." Just then they heard a whistling sound and all the Tinies looked around. "That was the wind," said Carpy. "See? The barn's begun to shake." And he was right. The wind blew strong and whistled quite a wild-like song. And then the barn creaked loudly, giving everyone a scare. The barn then slowly left the ground and seemed to almost turn around. In just about a moment it was floating through the air.

(The barn lands in a field in the next story.)

ARRIVING AT CHEST QUOTA

Whatever else may be said of the Community Chest in Santa Ana this year, the efficiency of its management must commend the movement to all who are concerned about getting the greatest value for their money.

The names of the men who are heading up the organization are in themselves a guarantee of careful scrutiny of all accounts and efficiency in all things. It is characteristic of such keen-minded business men that a plan should have been devised which appears to be an absolute safeguard at every point.

In the beginning of their work, they proceeded some months ago to appoint a "Function Committee," as it was called, whose business was to study the work of the agencies participating in the Community Chest Fund. This committee spent many hours in consultation with representatives of the agencies, studying the work carried on in its relation to the needs of the community. Their report on these investigations is a notable document, worthy of attention quite apart from its bearing on the financial question.

This committee went exhaustively into the program, equipment, management and needs of each agency which is aided by the Chest. Nothing was overlooked. Weak spots were considered as well as the commendable features. And the complete details of this investigation went into a report which was in turn presented to the Committee on Budget.

The Budget Committee, made up of six men and women, none of whom are officially connected with any of the agencies, and all of whom are people of the highest standing in business and professional circles, took much time for its study of the requests from the agencies, and also in considering the report from the Function Committee. This gave them a basis for estimating the value and importance of the work of each agency in connection with its own demand for financial support. They gave impartial and unhurried study to each agency budget, offering suggestions in some cases as to possible reductions, and investigating every item as to its necessity.

When they had completed their work, they made a report to the Board of Directors of the Community Chest, made up of thirty men and women, representing every part of the community, and this Board of Directors in turn studied the report of the Budget Committee, and finally adopted it without amendment.

This means that between thirty-five and forty different men and women worked over the requirements of the welfare agencies of our city, studied their work and their financial needs, and agreed without a dissenting vote upon the policy to be adopted. As a result of all this deliberation, we have placed before us the budget to be raised in the Community Chest campaign, of a little more than fifty thousand dollars, which, in the judgment of this large group of representative men and women, is the maximum amount on which our welfare work can be carried on.

When one considers this program of study which preceded the campaign, one must admit that no snap judgment has prevailed, and that no wave of enthusiasm has carried the Community Chest management off its feet. With three different groups of intelligent, conscientious men and women reviewing the budgets and the work, and coming to unanimous agreement on both the value of the work and the reasonableness of the demands, there seems to be no room for further argument.

DIVORCES INCREASE

According to the news from the Federal government, there has been an increase in the total number of divorces in the country of two per cent, while there has been a decrease in the marriage licenses in the country for the past year of 1.56 per cent. This makes a net difference of nearly four per cent.

During the past year, there was one divorce for every six marriages in the country at large. California's divorces to marriages were one to three and a third. This approach of divorces to marriages is largely attributable to the three-day law in California, requiring couples to file notice of intended marriage three days before the marriage. This has undoubtedly sent many couples to Arizona, Nevada and adjoining states, while the divorce mill kept grinding on.

There is one-tenth of one per cent in divorces in California more than there is in the nation at large, according to these figures. While California fell off 12 1-2 per cent in marriages, Nevada gained 73.8 per cent and Arizona showed a gain of 77.4 per cent. California's loss, to a very considerable extent, was Arizona's and Nevada's gain.

Nevada has been making a bid for divorces, and has changed the requirements of its divorce law from six months residence to three months. In spite of that the divorces did not keep up with the marriages in that state. On the whole, in the country, there is the continuing tendency of having the number of divorces approach the number of marriages. It will never reach it, and we doubt seriously if it ever will reach a point where the ratio will be as bad in the country as it is in California. We would almost imagine that on the law of chance and guesses that there would be certainly three out of four marriages who would feel that they had not made a serious mistake as to sever the marital

THE ONTARIO ELECTION

The news dispatches have heralded the Ontario election as a victory for the wets. We are not familiar with all the factors that entered into that election, but we know there were many important and affecting questions which were argued and discussed and promises made.

We know that there have been serious indictments made against the government control plan in Canada, and it seems to entirely depend upon the personal views of the investigator as to what his report is. However, we know one fact by the story of the results of campaigns in our own country. This is whenever in an election wet representatives have been elected, regardless of the number or importance of the issues involved other than prohibition, the news dispatches usually emphasize the idea that it was a wet victory, and that the people voted for the particular candidates because they were wet. On the other hand, as a rule, when dries won, the liquor people, and frequently the news agencies, emphasized the idea that they won in spite of the fact that they were dry, and it was the importance of other issues that carried them to victory.

It has been this point that has caused many prohibition people to vote for candidates who stood for prohibition but for nearly everything else that the prohibitionists didn't want. It may be a poor policy to do this, but it has frequently been done.

The issue is not settled in Canada; it can never be. Government partnership or monopoly in the activity of drunkard-making is no solution for the liquor problem.

It may be hard for the scrub to sit on the sidelines, but he might console himself with the thought that the regulars get all the breaks.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"

President Wilson delivered some years ago a remarkable address on the subject of "Let There Be Light." He was objecting to the work of politicians done in secret. He was emphasizing the necessity of turning on the searchlight and public criticism and its value. Among other things he said:

It would be very inconvenient for some gentlemen, probably, if government were all outside, but we have consulted their susceptibilities too long already. It is barely possible that some of these gentlemen are unjustly suspected; in that case they owe it to themselves to come out and operate in the light. The very fact that so much in politics is done in the dark, behind closed doors, promotes suspicion. Everybody knows that corruption thrives in secret places, and avoids public places, and we believe it a fair presumption that secrecy means impropriety. So, our honest politicians and honorable corporation heads owe it to their reputations to bring their activities out into the open.

At any rate, whether they like it or not, these affairs are going to be dragged into the open. We are more anxious about their reputations than they are themselves. We are too solicitous for their morals—if they are not—to permit them longer to continue subject to the temptations of secrecy.

Publicity is one of the purifying elements of politics. The best thing that you can do with anything that is crooked is to lift it up where the people can see that it is crooked, and then it will either straighten itself out or disappear. Nothing checks all the bad practices of politics like public exposure. You can't be crooked in the light. I don't know whether it has ever been tried or not; but I venture to say, purely from observation, that it can't be done.

We wouldn't agree with President Wilson on all the things he said or did, but when he discussed fundamental governmental principles, we never could disagree with him.

FORD REDUCES PRICES

We notice that the Ford Motor Company has announced a cut in the prices of its cars.

Is it possible that Mr. Ford has made this cut out of sympathy for the losers in Wall Street, or is it simply an aggravation to remind them that they can't even buy a Ford?

Or is it because he feels that every one for a little while will be "Ford-minded"? Or is it by the law of association that as everything seemed to be going down, Ford wanted to go with the crowd?

However, it may be helpful to those who are stranded a distance away, if there is not too much water separating them from home, they may have enough left to buy the reduced-price Ford, and wend their way home to build their fortunes again.

The New Is "News"

Ten lives were lost when a lake steamer went down in Lake Michigan yesterday, and a few days ago 50 lives were taken when a car ferry foundered on the same lake. During this same spell of stormy weather in the lakes region, three persons were killed in airplane accidents. That is the type of record to which aviation enthusiasts point when they charge that aviation casualties are played up out of all proportion to their extent and seriousness. Water-borne traffic sustains its ordinary casualty toll without tempting anyone to brand it as "dangerous." Why should a more exacting standard be applied to traffic in the airplanes?

The point is well taken, although the publicity situation will not be corrected until air travel shall have become as commonplace as travel by water. There is a greater interest in airplanes than there is in boats. An air accident is "news" where a shipwreck with an even greater loss may not be "news." Nothing can be done to correct that.

What can be done, however, is to stress the fact that this rule works both ways. A notable air journey is far greater news than a successful voyage by water. A plane carrying 150 persons on a joy-ride, is a much "bigger" event than the sailing of an ocean liner with a passenger list 10 times as great upon a voyage 30 times as long. And aviation's successes—particularly those successes that are becoming commonplace—are doing a great deal to antidote any loss of confidence caused by occasional accident reports.

Hundreds of our most eminent citizens use the airplane with as little hesitancy as they employ the

POOR OLD WHALE

The poor hunted whale has had trouble enough
In dodging the blood-thirsty sharks
Which always are doing their badgering stuff
Wherever the big fellow parks.
The killers pursue him from left and from right
With fangs quite as deadly as steel,
And the whale never knows when a generous bite
Will be nipped from his sinuous keel.

To add to his troubles men sailed o'er the sea
With lances to plunge in his side
And then with his bones and his blubber made free
While his carcass was tossed on the tide.
He was chivalrous about from the line to the pole,
And when sail craft were held up by calms,
Came steamers which moved by the power of coal
And filled the poor creature with bombs.

But still not content with their ravenous task
The hunters who harry the brute
To gather his oil into cask upon cask,
More deadly have made their pursuit,
They loose electricity, bolt after bolt,
Which burn like a thunderstorm's breath,
And give the Leviathan such a rough jolt
That he writhes in the last throes of death.

In the days before oil could be pumped from the ground
Man had a real reason to sail
To the north and the south and the whole world around
In pursuit of the blubbery whale.
But to hunt him with shafts of electrical force
Which cannot be balked of their aim
Is a thing which true sportsmen will never endorse,
For it isn't quite playing the game.

Who Fixed the Price of Your Hat?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Who fixed the price of your fall hat?
You did. The seller merely fixed the price at which the hat was offered. You fixed the price at which it was sold.

Selling prices are not made by the simple process of adding profits to costs.

In the long run, it is true, prices tend to keep above costs. Otherwise business would stop, as surely as a motor car stops when the fuel gives out. But at any given time, in the case of any given commodity, already produced, there is no necessary relation between cost and price.

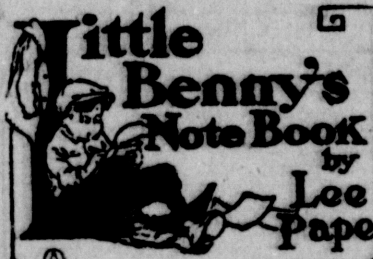

Buyers rule, because they hold nearly all the options. Almost always, sellers are obliged to sell for whatever buyers decide to pay; whereas buyers are free to buy a substitute or not to buy at all.

Witness the stores in every large city now actually offering huge stocks of goods at prices far below cost. Who fixes these prices? Not the seller, surely.

But, it is said, buyers have to buy something or starve. Even so, the rule holds. Whether it is caviar or corn, the price is determined by the people who spend the money for that, instead of for something else.

No merchant ever suffers long under the delusion that he controls prices. In filling out price tags he merely guesses what buyers will pay. If he guesses wrong, he has to guess again. His cash register tells him when he guesses right.

The merchant who sold you your fall hat guessed right.

Thoughts On Modern Life

LITERATURE AND THE MACHINE

Here are some of the things that Edward J. O'Brien, in his "Dance of the Machines," thinks characterize the American short story produced in this machine age, things that follow rather closely the things Mr. O'Brien sees as characteristics of the machine, as I summarized them yesterday.

First, the short story must be accurate, photographic, careful in detail, without mistakes of omission. Second, the short story works to a predestined pattern, and is thus Calvinistic like the machine.

Third, the short story is as cheap as possible in its emotions, its characters, the victories of its heroes, and its sickly sentimentality.

Fourth, the short story must produce heroes that function as flawlessly as machines, without nervous and unpredictable qualities.

Fifth, the short story is impersonal, manufacturing types rather than creating characters.

Sixth, the short story is designed to be interchangeable with its fellows.

Seventh, the short story, if it is successful, must be reproduced by its author over and over again; its writer may not practice literary birth-control, even though he may be able to write better stories.

Eighth, the short story is concerned primarily with technique, its writer "making good" if he masters the technique.

Ninth, the short story must not be guilty of much variation from the prevailing pattern; otherwise it will go unpublished as an article made by machinery will go unsold if an error crept into its manufacture.

Tenth, the short story cannot stand much creativeness in its author, for the market cries for standardized goods that it is used to reading.

THE MACHINE

Eleventh, the short story must find fortune in the periodicals of vast circulation; vast circulation must be written down to, for readers with high tastes are not numbered by millions; and so the short story tends to cheapness; and the promoters of vast circulations put a high-powered advertising back of silly stories to make them seem significant.

Twelfth, the short story must be produced rapidly and in great volume to feed the machines of vast circulations, and so speed is imposed upon its writer.

Thirteenth, the short story, forced to be snappy, begets restlessness and dissatisfaction in writer and reader alike.

Fourteenth, the short story finds the creative mind of the writer and the creative response of the reader worn down by this restlessness.

Fifteenth, the short story and the big circulation magazines that print them are standardized, made by mass production, and conformity is enforced upon writers, their output, and their readers.

Sixteenth, the short story, under mass production, tends to think more of the uniformity than of the quality of its material; and with poor material, its writers resort to veneer either of a sterile imitation of culture or a slick, ingenious patter.

Seventeenth, the short story scorns intelligence beyond a certain point, for too much intelligence might breed a revolt in its writers and in its readers against its shoddy material and its standardized manner.

Thus, as Mr. O'Brien sees it, the American short story takes on the color of the machine age for which it is being manufactured.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

NOT SO PERFECT

Just what would satisfy us, give us a comforting feeling in rearing a child? How good must a child be to be a good child?

He must be clean as a new platter, prompt as a clock, interested and well prepared in his studies. He must be unfailingly polite, unselfish, considerate of our feelings. He must do a good job from the time he rises promptly at the first call to the hour of his retiring, promptly at the first signal. He must give nobody any trouble anytime, anywhere, anyhow.

Well, children never come like that. Childhood is growing time and all growth is uneven, crude and very uncertain. It is very uncomfortable for both sides of the matter, the grower and the impatient watcher. Growing fatigues one and weariness brings on tears, moods, tempers and more.

Growth has many phases and it is easy to label them "poor conduct," and make them the cause of unrighteous discipline. A child learning to use language can be very annoying. He repeats the same sound over and over, he sings the same song, recites the same meaningless ditty endlessly or practices blood curdling yells, hoots and screeches. His rapid change of viewpoint takes one's breath. He will be a deep sea diver today and search the waste heaps for iron and wire and rubber tubing for an outfit, but the morn finds him preaching the gospel of idleness from the sunny roof of the washhouse.

Up and down goes the curve of growth in amazing leaps and falls. Sometimes all signs disappear and he sits silently and motionless and to all appearances, dull and dumb. Suddenly he bursts into action and presents another phase.

"Such a child I never saw. Here today, gone tomorrow. Do you think he is all there?"

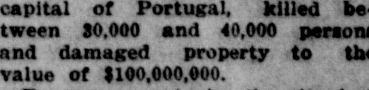

All there, every bit of him. He is growing. You have in mind the good child who is no trouble to anybody, not even himself, and he most happily does not exist.

Give the child room to grow. Leave a bit of leeway for the free play of his joints so he can expand without bursting something.

Look away from him to some good thought of him and hold to that. Know that this child is good. Know that there is in him far more of treasure than you and all the host of teachers could hope to endow him with and that there is for more chance of his discovering it for himself than there is of your handing it to him ready made and going strong.

Try to take a child in the large. Do only what is necessary for his health and comfort. Feed and clothe and shelter him, but try not to rob him of his growth, his one excuse for being. Never mind the perfection standard, but leave him room to grow.

QUAKE DESTROYS LISBON

On Nov. 1, 1755, an earthquake destroyed the city of Lisbon, the capital of Portugal, killed between 30,000 and 40,000 persons and damaged property to the value of $100,000,000.

For many centuries the city had suffered from earthquakes but without serious consequences until the one in 1755 reduced the greater part of it almost in an instant to a heap of ruins.

A tidal wave at the same time broke over the quays and wrecked shipping in the Tagus river. Fire completed the work of destruction. The district surrounding an old Moorish castle in the center of the city was the only part not destroyed.

The shock was felt from Scotland to Asia Minor.

The rapid recovery of the city from the disaster was due largely to the energetic work of the prime minister, the Marquis of Pombal.
